Nice Day Off

*This is part of my Blind Crime series. Read the first two installments first.

A Nice Day Off

It was a nice day off. Being a cop I liked to put minorities down, and that's exactly what I intended on doing. Being a cop I like to pleasure myself with donuts and bagels while also watching Game of Thrones. I also really like Kim Jon Un. There's something about le communist regime that really turns me on.

So one day I was boner-farting around and then my girlfriend is like who put you on the planet lol and I punched her right in the gob that fkin ct is a real bitch she is I hate her and then she called the cops. But the thing is, I'm a cop, so when the cops showed up I talked to them in our secret cop language "Who's bigger than a male gigolo" and they responded "Spiders in the attic" and they proceeded to beat my wife.

When they were finished with her I looked at my wife. She recovered really quickly, as she was now crocheting on a lawn chair. The knitting said "My husband has a great personality" and I laughed and punched her with a boner fist.

The next day I was put on trial for killing a man. I said I didn't do it but I forgot that I had the mans carotid artery in my hand was whipping my pet rat, named Ramin Dajawadi, with it. I called the judge a big fat boner and I shot myself.

All in all it was a nice day off.
